

Will the League of Nations Club come under the scope of the Council?

Moderate Winds, Cloudy With Scattered Showers.

Students Coming To Montreal For Model Assembly

Participants Will Come Here From Many Universities

NOTABLES TO SPEAK

Delegates to Adopt Attitudes Of Different Countries In League

At the meeting of the Students' Council last night the question of holding a Model Assembly of the League of Nations was considered and referred to a committee of two. The Assembly, which would take place in February of next year here at McGill, is sponsored by the McGill League of Nations Club which with representatives from R.V.C. participated in a similar Assembly last winter at Toronto University.

The Assembly would last three days and consist of five sessions at which delegates would be presented from Canadian and American Universities. The reports submitted would be an attempt to prognosticate the work of the actual Assembly of the League of Nations at Geneva next year. Delegations, as representatives of the different members of the League, take the attitude of the particular country whose views they present in the discussion of the reports.

In addition to the sessions the delegates will be entertained at luncheons and banquets at which prominent speakers interested in the League of Nations will speak.

The Assembly last February at Toronto was under the patronage of Sir Eric Drummond, the Secretary-General of the League, and its President was Mr. Norman A. M. MacKenzie, at one time legal adviser to the International Labor Office. Special speakers included Sir Herbert Ames, Dr. H. M. Tory, and Sir William Mulock, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Ontario.

The committee work on the reports would be done here at McGill and copies of them sent to the various delegations for their study, enabling them to speak on the subjects of interest to them at the Assembly. Subjects discussed at the last Model Assembly were of an interesting nature, and many of them were on the agenda of the actual League last month.

These Assemblies are not new to Canadian intercollegiate activity. Three of these have been held, thus far, the first at Ottawa in 1928, and the second at Dalhousie University, while Toronto conducted the last one. Interest in affairs of an international nature is increasing among university students, who find in the work of the League of Nations an opportunity to familiarize themselves with world problems and understand the difficulties in the way of their settlement. If for nothing else, the League acts as an effective clearing house of international sentiment.

In considering the holding of a Model Assembly McGill shows evidence of her realization of the importance of contacts between students with a common interest of this kind. Considering the representative character of her student body McGill would be acting in an appropriate manner and consistently with her policies in the past if she were to conduct the fourth Canadian Model Assembly in February of next year.

Student Society Not To Change Voting Methods

OWING to an error, it was stated in the Daily of some days ago that a change in the methods of voting the various offices of the Students' Council was to be proposed at the next meeting of the Students' Society.

This change was to affect the methods of polling in the various faculties, only those students not directly connected with any faculty voting in the Union, the rest of the student body, being members of a faculty, to vote in their respective buildings at polls under the control of the Council.

However, since this proposed amendment was not handed in to the Council two weeks before the meeting, it cannot be voted upon or discussed there. Consequently the voting in future will have to remain as in the past, until such times as this proposal can be constitutionally brought before the Council.

Professors Play Students Friday

Golf Tourney Takes Place On Sports Day

ALL LECTURES OFF

Faculty Players Will Treat Opponents to Lunch At Dixie

The Professors will compete with the Students again this year in the Annual Golf Tourney on the morning of Sports Day, Friday, October 17, at the Royal Montreal Golf Club at Dixie.

Each Professor will entertain his opponent at lunch, whether he wins or not. As this is a feature not present at all competitions, the Match this year is sure to be a success, as far as the number of student entries is concerned.

All Lectures Cancelled
Lectures in all faculties are cancelled for the day, as the University Track and Field Championships will be held in the afternoon.

Trains leave for Dixie from Bonaventure Station at 7:25 a.m., and at 9:25 a.m., and from Windsor Station at 9 a.m. After the competition, the golfers will return to Montreal in time for the Track Meet at the Stadium which begins at 2:30.

Dr. Johnson Donates Trophy
Dr. Johnson has offered a trophy for the winners of the competition, and this, coupled with the free lunch and the cancellation of lectures, ought to ensure a large entry.

All students desiring to participate are asked to leave their names, telephone numbers, and handicaps with Bill Gentlemen in the Arts Building before Monday, October 13.

Library School Held Elections Recently

During the past week a new executive was chosen for the Library School, consisting of Mrs. Carter as Honorary President, Caroline Farlane as representative to the M. bell, George Irwin, and Axel Larsen as vice-president, secretary, and treasurer respectively, and Ann MacFarlane as representative to the M. W. S. S.

Library Executive Chosen at R.V.C. General Meeting

M. S. P. E. May Use The Common Room Again

CONSTITUTION READ

Girls Urged To Go In For Athletics And Debates

In accordance with the present occupation of all other groups at the university, the R.V.C. held an election yesterday, to wit, that of their library committee. The present members are Eleanor MacKinnon, Christine Graham, Sally Hay, and Eleanor Jones. The freshman member of the reading-room committee is now Elizabeth Kenny. At the meeting of the R. V.C. Undergraduates' Society held in the Common Room at which this was done, the constitution of the Society was read, and the financial statement considered, showing a surplus of thirty-five dollars.

The last feature of the business was a motion, which was carried, that the M.S.P.E. girls be permitted to use the common room again.

Mary Hill, the president of the Society, laid stress on the girls' participation in inter-class debates and athletics. She also invited, in the name of the Choral Society, all those interested in singing to attend its meeting, which is to be held next Thursday at 8:05 in Strathcona Hall. Mrs. Vaughan, acting warden of R.V.C., welcomed all the students back to the university, and extended the wish that all the women would enjoy their year and would do what was expected of them in the way of work.

Dramatic Body Has New Blood

November 10th Chosen For First One-Act Plays

Due to the large number of prospective actors and actresses for this year, the executive of the Players' Club is looking forward to a great advancement in the various productions scheduled for this season.

With the kind permission of Dean Ira A. MacKay the date of Monday, November the tenth, has been set aside for the production of the first one-act plays of the season. The exact plays have not, as yet, been chosen, but within the next day or so this will be done, and the student body may be assured that the club will live up to the reputation it gained last season with its work-shop department.

The casting for these plays will be called for Wednesday, October 15th, so that all who were not able to act in "The Ivory Door" will have an opportunity to try their hand at the prospective presentations. It is very important that all actors and actresses or future aspirants of McGill try out first for "The Ivory Door" tomorrow at 5:30 p.m. in the Players' Club Room in the Union, and also for the one-act plays on Wednesday, October 15th. All members of the Players' Club who want reduced prices on their tickets to "Berkley Square" at His Majesty's next Monday should come to the Players' Club Office this afternoon between five and six for exchange tickets.

Social Successful

Newman Club Was at Home To Freshmen

The Executive of the Newman Club was at home last evening to the Freshmen who wished to get acquainted with the members of the Club.

Over a hundred guests danced to the tunes which Jack Mullaley and his orchestra concocted for their pleasure and which assured the success of the evening. The first of their social evenings of the year, the party was held in the spacious Congress Hall on Dorchester Street West. A Buffet Supper was served to the Newmanites at midnight.

Dr. Foster Was Speaker At Physics Colloquium

Dr. J. S. Foster spoke at the Physics Colloquium held yesterday in the Physics Building. His subject was "The Review of Experimental Technique and the Theory of the Stark Effect." This is the first of a series of two lectures on this subject, open to all interested.

Art Lecture Sponsored By People's Forum

OF INTEREST to the world of Art will be an illustrated lecture by Miss Clare Leighton on "Pictures and how to look at them". The address will be given under the auspices of the People's Forum in the Church of the Messiah at 7:30 p.m. on Sunday October 12th. During the half hour preceding, music of French composers will be offered by George M. Brewer in the organ.

Miss Leighton has recently been elected an Associate of the Royal Society of Painters, Etchers, and Engravers and is well known in many countries for her superb wood engravings. She was chosen by Thomas Hardy to illustrate his later works, and also worked on Thornton Wilder's "Bridge of San Luis Rey".

Dentists Decide To Hold Dinner

Also Plan Dance in Middle Of December

WILL PLAY RUGBY

President of Society Welcomes Newcomers to Faculty

The Dents got together in large numbers last night at the first meeting of their society in the Medical Building, where a large amount of current business was discussed. Plans for several functions were adopted, among them being a dinner, and a dance. It was also decided that the Faculty would be represented in the Interfaculty Football League.

Newcomers Welcomed
In his opening speech, A. W. Oliver, president, welcomed the first year men to the Faculty. The Society will hold a meeting in the form of a dinner in the last week of October, and a dance will be held on December 17. The following were chosen as a committee to look after the arrangements for the big affair Van Wyck, Ward, Lapin, Vosberg, Lowe, Oliver, and Murray.

To Play Football
The Dental faculty will be well represented by their football team, and expect to duplicate their feat of several years ago, when they won the championship. R. Murray was elected Manager, and Lapin, Silverman, Ward, Kilen, Ironstone, and Oliver will form the nucleus of a strong team which will turn out for the first game against Medicine, last year's champs, on October 14.

Refreshments were served at the end of the meeting.

McRobie to Head Commerce Class

Craig, Slapack, Oglivie Form Remainder of Executive

Another group of class officials has been added to the long list of executives who have managed the affairs of the various classes since the university was founded, and more future business executives are having their first opportunity to gain experience in their chosen vocation: for the commerce freshmen elected their class officers Monday afternoon.

The executive consists of Don McRobie, president, Bob Craig, vice-president, Fannie Slapack, secretary, and Lorne Oglivie, treasurer. Although they will not be occupied, as some freshmen executives have been in the past, with ways and means of conducting a successful defence against the awful depredations of the bloodthirsty sophs, they will find enough work in their ordinary activities of the class, to keep them busy.

Track Schedule

Notwithstanding previous notices, the following is a corrected list of track events up to and including the intermediate intercollegiate meet on Monday, October 27.
October 10—Fresh-Soph.
October 17—Sports Day.
October 24—Senior Intercollegiate.
October 27—Intermediate Intercollegiate.

Appoint Lecturer To New Position Under Principal

Professor Stanley Made "General Staff Officer" To Sir Arthur

HAD VARIED CAREER

New Appointee is Graduate Of Toronto And Oxford Universities

An important announcement was made yesterday morning when Sir Arthur Currie stated that he had assigned new and important duties to Professor Stanley which would bring him into more intimate relations with the Principal.

Sir Arthur states that he cannot define the new relationship better than to say that Professor Stanley has become General Staff Officer. In Business

Professor Stanley, who will continue as lecturer of Greek, brings to his new task a long interest in educational affairs and an experience won both in the academic world and in business. Appointed first as a member of the staff of the Department of English, Victoria College, Toronto University, he obtained leave of absence for study abroad and proceeded to Oxford, where he obtained a "First in Greats." He was offered an Oxford tutorship, but returned to Toronto University, where he taught English Literature and Greek for three years. He resigned from the staff of Toronto University to enter the textile manufacturing business. (Continued On Page Four)

Exchange Closes Wednesday Next

No More Books Taken In After Tomorrow

Business is falling off at the Book Exchange. Only $65.00 was taken in yesterday as compared with the $125.00 received on Wednesday. This is due to the fact that most of the students have already obtained the books necessary for their courses.

The Exchange will remain open until next Wednesday provided there is sufficient business to make it worth while. Students are warned that no books will be received after tomorrow, and those who have any of the books listed below are asked to bring them in.

The good news is broadcast that shareholders will be paid in about two weeks time, and it is thought that even if the students are tardy in turning in their books, they will hurry to answer this call.

Obsolete books are positively not wanted. The following is a list of books that are in great demand: English: English Poetry of the 19th Century; English Prose of the 19th Century.

French: Precis de la Littérature Française; Le Cid; La France et sa Civilisation; Mass-Initiation Economique; Lettres Persanes; Jago — La France Qui Travaille; Des Granges — Marceaux choisis; De Maupassant — Huit Contes; Janau — Commercial Correspondence, and others, especially third and fourth year Commerce books.

Science: Inorganic Chemistry-Caven and Lander; Organic Chemistry — Clark; Quantitative Analysis — Fales; NEWELL'S COLLEGE CHEMISTRY; MacPherson and Anderson — Chemistry Lab. Exercises in Chemistry (1st year); Black and Davies-Practical Physics.

Economics and History: Robinson-History of Western Europe; Marshall-Principles of Economics; Glide-Principles of Economics; Leacock-Elements of Political Science, Sociology; Dawson and Gately-Sociology; Also Murray's Calculus and elementary Trigonometry, Algebra and Geometry books.

Scarlet Key

Scarlet Key men ushering Saturday afternoon, October 11th, are to be at the Stadium at 1:30 p.m. No tickets are required for admittance. Hamilton, King, Keller, Ellis, Jost, Bennett, Eakin, Webster, Baker, Diggar, Bourne, Craig, Saunders, Oliver, Murray, Swartz, Ironstone, Pinkerton, Morrison are requested to be present.

S.C.A. Board Convenes

The Board of Directors of the Student Christian Association will meet this afternoon at five o'clock in Strathcona Hall.

Union Will Give Running Report Of Rugby Game

PLAY BY PLAY reports of the football game with Varsity will be received in the Union by telegraph tomorrow afternoon. Bulletins will be posted in the Union from time to time, and these will show the progress of the contest. Since the game is scheduled to start at 2:30, the first notice may be expected shortly after that hour.

Thus it is expected that those students who are not going to take the train to Toronto, will have a good opportunity to know all the events of the game. From past attendances at the Union during similar reports, there will most likely be a large crowd in the lobby, so it would be well to come fairly early in order to get a good point of vantage.

Dr. Best Speaker At S.C.A. Meeting

Has Had Year's Tour In Orient

EVERYONE ASKED

Study Group Will Be Most Important of Features

Special cars will take members of the McGill S.C.A. to the annual Yall Setting-up Conference at MacDonald College, Ste. Annes, next Sunday, October twelfth. The sessions will be held in the College Auditorium and dinner and supper will be served to the visitors in the Dining Hall. The Conference is being held for the special purpose of getting all the members of the S.C.A. at McGill acquainted with each other. At this Conference, also, new members will be introduced to the work and purpose of the Association.

Dr. E. M. Best of United College, will be the principal speaker. As the doctor has just returned from a year's tour of the Orient, his talk is sure to be full of interest.

Every student who is interested in the S.C.A. and its activities is very cordially invited to attend this first Conference of the year. This invitation includes both men and women. The entire cost of the outing is only $1.75, and the train leaves Bonaventure Station at 9:35 Sunday morning. Study Groups will form the most important part of the Association's work this year.

Chemical Industry Members to Meet

Club Will Elect Officers For Year Tuesday

All chemical engineers, arts students, and others at McGill who are interested in the application of chemistry to industry are invited to attend the first meeting of the Chemical Industry Club which will be held at 5:00 p.m. next Tuesday in Room 2 of the Chemistry Building.

The Chemical Industry Club interests itself in examining the various ways in which chemistry aids modern industry and, during the year, in addition to the regular discussions, tours are made through the various manufacturing plants of the city so that the members can get first-hand information on the subject.

The chief object of the meeting will be to elect officers for the year and to outline a proposed schedule of trips. All those who are interested in the club are therefore advised to attend.

To Hold Opening Dance of Season Early Next Month

Arrange Alma Mater Dance For First Friday in November

NO TRIP FOR BAND

Musicians Will Not Accompany Team to Toronto For Game

At a meeting of the Students' Executive Council last evening it was decided to hold the Alma Mater Dance this year on Friday, November 7, in the Union. A resolution to this effect was adopted after minute consideration had been given to plans for holding the dance later on in the winter.

Reasons for holding the dance earlier than usual this season were advanced at the last meeting of the Council and a member was appointed to inquire into the feasibility of advancing the date of one of the big events of the college social season to the fall, instead of leaving it to the spring as has been the case in past years.

Permission Granted
The faculty committee concerned put no objections in the way of those responsible for the arrangements and the dance is accordingly scheduled for a time of the year when the examinations are yet far off, and when college spirits and pocket books are at their highest level. Most Councillors felt that the ball should be held in the Union because of the great number of other dances which are to take place off the campus.

No Band Trip
It was definitely decided that the band will not accompany the football team to Toronto. Among the other items of business the question of election balloting came up, along with the Students' Society meeting which is to be held on Wednesday, October 15th. As has been the case in past years the time was fixed for 5:15.

A lengthy discussion was entered into on the subject of the League of Nations Club which made application to come under the jurisdiction of the Students' Council in order to gain financial backing for an ambitious program which includes the holding at McGill of the Model Assembly of the League of Nations. This event took place last year at University of Toronto and has been an annual affair in Canadian Universities for five years.

It was decided to sound opinion on the matter before announcing a decision. In another column will be found a brief summary of what the League of Nations Club proposes to do if the support which it desires is forthcoming. The decision of the Council will be influenced to no small degree by the comment which the proposal calls forth in the correspondence column of the Daily.

Tait Chosen as Frosh President

Elections Held Yesterday After English 2 Lecture

At a meeting held in the Moyse Hall yesterday, the Class of Arts '34 elected W.M. Tait as their President. C.F. Carsley was chosen Vice-President, and K.C. MacLure and A. T. Barnes were elected Secretary and Treasurer respectively.

After the freshmen and the Science and Commerce men had left the Hall, nominations were taken, and the voting got under way. Bill Tait was elected Class-President by a solid vote of the West Hill High School graduates. C. F. Carsley was chosen Vice-President.

MacLure Secretary
Kenneth C. MacLure, who led the Province in the High School Leaving Examinations this year, was elected Secretary, and the Class showed its trust in Al Barnes by making him Treasurer.

To Hold Memorial Service For R-101 Dead at Noon Today

At 12:15 noon today in Christ Church Cathedral a service will be held to commemorate those who lost their lives in the disaster of the R-101. It will be held in the same manner as that being given in St. Paul's Cathedral, London. Dean Carlisle, representing the Bishop of Montreal, will officiate.

Both representatives of the United and Presbyterian Churches and officers of the military units of the city will be present.

Howls Of Canine Intruder Disturb Peace Of Library

A low wail, that of the proverbial banshee in pain, rose from the lobby of the Redpath Library: John Student wondered whether the contents of the Biological Building has been transferred to the library or whether the stern ruling of the Students' Council were being defied, and, in a return to the primitive which was feared last year, some poor frosh was being hazed. "Who would be enough to make such a noise?" wondered.

Silence ruled for a little while; then again came that cry which would have wrung the heart of even the mildest anti-vivisectionist. Was it animal, vegetable, or mineral; if animal, was it human; and if human male or female?

As was bound to happen, an investigation was made, revealing the presence of a dog who had, apparently, sneaked into the library and tied himself to the coils in the lobby—or else someone had tied him there. Someone who, despite the efforts of the S.P.C.A. in flooding the campus and approaches to the college with fair damsels who accosted one with the appeal to have pity on our dumb friends, had neither room in his heart for such emotion nor respect for the sanctity of the Holy of Holies, consecrated for study, where Golden Silence reigns supreme. Whatever the motives which actuated the vandal or vandals in this fell deed, eviction of the canine had to follow; and it did.

But in this incident an important point is raised a point which will touch all who have a soft spot in their hearts for the dumb creatures who are humanity's tried and trusty friends. What is to happen to little dogs that are left in the lurch by their master or mistress? What is their fate? Nothing is known; save that it is rumored that the Biological Building has a new occupant.

To Be?

AT a meeting of the Students' Executive Council last night an item of business came up which should be of utmost interest to the members of the Students' Society. The League of Nations Club made formal application for admission to the scope of the Council in order that it may receive the financial backing of the Students' Society to the extent of eight hundred dollars in undertaking to hold at McGill the fifth annual Model Assembly of the League of Nations.

In the news columns of this issue the plans for the proposed assembly are entered into in detail and complete information is given as to how the money will be spent. This annual gathering, it will be seen, is a matter of wide importance and general interest. Last year when it was held at the University of Toronto, speakers of international reputation spoke to the delegates and much attention was received from the city press. Questions of the day in international matters were thoroughly discussed by large delegations from most of the Canadian Universities and from Vassar, Dartmouth, Princeton and Yale. The League of Nations Club hopes that, if McGill is selected, the program will not be less elaborate than that which was undertaken at Toronto last February.

Besides the sum which the club hopes to receive from the Council, the R.V.C. is also assessed for the amount of four hundred dollars, bringing the total estimated revenue to twelve hundred dollars, the minimum sum with which the club can run the Assembly.

In arriving at a decision on the matter, the Council will be guided to some degree by the discussion which the proposal provokes. Put as briefly and in as non-partisan a way as possible the plan is as follows:—The League of Nations Club asks to become affiliated with the Executive Council of the Students' Society, and on the granting of this, desires financial backing to the extent of eight hundred dollars. In return there will accrue to McGill and to the Students' Society a certain amount of prestige as a seat of interest in foreign affairs.

Comment on the proposal is needed and asked for and the correspondence column of the Daily is open to anyone who has suggestions. The matter is one of unusual importance and much discussion is looked for before the Council meets again in two weeks time.

Our Quiet Politics

A EUROPEAN exchange student at the University of Toronto claims that the average Canadian student is too youthful and too preoccupied in sports to take an active interest in politics. The opposite is the case, he says, in the Continental European universities.

To a certain extent this may appear to be true. The Canadian student does not create riots and orate from soap-boxes any time there is a general election and the favourite candidate of the universities is defeated. In Canada there is not even a favourite candidate of the universities.

All this, however, does not prove that the student is not interested in politics. His views may be just as arbitrary and decided as those of the most hardened politician but he feels that he does not have to air them in public on any and every occasion. He confines his views to meetings of clubs formed expressly for this purpose and has been known to be very emphatic at such meetings.

In fact the very multiplicity of political clubs on the campus and the great number of students taking courses in economics and political science attest the fact that politics is as near the students' mind as any other subject.

The average man sees thousands of students attending sports events and running riot after the game, but he sees no such manifestation of interest in the great game of politics. He naturally concludes that the Canadian student is more interested in sports than in anything else and lets it go at that.

Usually the average observer does not consider that the majority of men in parliament are university men and that many students go to college in order to train for a political career.

Perhaps one of the things that misleads people is the fact that most college papers are non-partisan in their nature. It is impossible to get a controversial or partisan article printed in college papers and accordingly anyone reading these university publications concludes that the students are not interested in politics.

ME and the PUP

A Dialogue

by K.N.C.

PUP. (looking over top of ponderous tome) Hello. Glad to see you back. Have a good time. Yeah? That's fine. I had a hell of a time. They fed me on dog biscuits and lights, not a scrap of liver or a drop of malted milk, and never a single book to read. Why didn't you tell them?

ME. I put on every postcard—P.S. Be sure and give Themistocles plenty of liver and malted. Of course I couldn't mention books or the game would have been up.

PUP. (beaming) Did you now. That wasn't so bad of you at all. The books did not matter so much. I suffer from congenital myopia anyway. I say, I heard that you had bears up where you were staying.

ME. Bears? Yes, they were a bit of a nuisance at times. The hotel windows are all made small so they will get stuck halfway if they try to get in, and a bear club is hung up in each room for the convenience of the guest. When one hears a bear at the window one rings the bear bell and the host goes outside with his club. He waits till the bear is about quarter way in the window then strikes him forcibly from the rear with his club so that he gets jammed in the window frame. Then guest thumps him on the head and it is all over. They keep the hide and the carcass is given to the habitants for root beer. Everything is used but the growl and that is picked in alcohol and placed on the parlour mantelpiece. Unfortunately bears are growing rather scarce so that the root beer and bear growl industry is passing through a temporary phase of economic depression. It is rumoured that a big U.S. syndicate are trying to buy a monopoly of the business, but it is scarcely likely now that we have placed 90% tariff on bear growls.

PUP. (reflectively) No, it doesn't seem likely. But what do the Americans want with the pickled growls?

ME. To elect to Congress I suppose or give honorary degrees to. But then we really haven't got any to spare in Canada. Let them get to work to find a way of manufacturing synthetic growls out of the bodies of American Mercury contributors.

PUP. Speaking of the Mercury did you know that H. L. was in town when you were away? No? He was staying at the Ritz. I went up to have a look at him and all he said was, "Say Sara did you ever see such a homely looking pup?" And that was all I got from him, from the man who stole all my stuff I wrote as Voltaire. Wait till I get him in Hades. I am going to be Satan again when they let me go this time. It was a dirty rotten trick making me a dog.

ME. How did you tell me it happened?

PUP. Oh a bunch of the boys got together and outwitted me. They said I was too fresh the last time I was Gabriel, to say nothing of the little tricks I pulled off as Lenin. Wait till I get hold of the big still Jehovah again. He won't pull any dirty stuff this time. He is pretty old now and nobody takes much notice of him. Personally I don't know however he sticks it. Did I ever tell you about the time when I was Jehovah? No? Well I was a big boy in the deity line for a long while. Did the strong silent act. Everything went fine for a few hundred years till a pack of theologians got together and I had to submit to various indignities, very ruffling to a person of my social status I assure you. Finally they trisected me in a manner incomprehensible to me and after a while I began to doubt my own existence so I quit. After that I became Paul, of the Tarsus Pauls you know. I imagine you are acquainted with the history of my other earthly states.

ME. Doubtless.

PUP. Did I ever tell you about the time when I was . . .

ME. Yes.

PUP. Well you needn't be so snappy about it.

ME. (brightly) I wrote a poem when I was away.

PUP. (looking alarmed) I say, I am awfully sorry but I have a date with Salina, the little bitch next door. So sorry old man. (edging to door) Hear it some other time. Glad to. Exit Pup.

CURTAIN

CORRESPONDENCE

Wednesday, October 8, 1930.

The Editor,
The McGill Daily.

Dear Sir:
I wish to draw the attention of the student body to a custom of the University which seems, to me, to involve a moral injustice.

It is in connection with money awards for scholarship. The honour of winning a scholarship or fellowship, is, so far as the academic world is concerned, of more value to the winner than the sum of money usually included with it. When, therefore, the successful student is not financially in need of help to continue his career, it seems to

as seen by tourists

Undoubtedly one of the greatest movements of the North American people, when the summer approaches, barring such stampedes as college boys going into construction and steamship jobs, is the annual migration of men, women, and children to Europe, and consequently to Paris.

In no other city, perhaps, does one find an atmosphere so absolutely artificial, so entirely devoted to the satisfaction of the slightest fanciful whim of the novelty-seeking tourist as the French metropolis.

The shopkeepers and merchants, the cafe proprietors, the guides, and the hotel-keepers look to this green and innocent, even though by our standards hard-boiled, stranger to make the living which they cannot find in the spendings of their less extravagant and much less gullible compatriots.

Paris is often, if not always, pictured to us a bad, wicked place. The average Parisian is really not the least bit more wicked than we. He may be free from that Puritanism of which we Anglo-Saxons undoubtedly have a great deal, and realising in the goodness of his heart that he holds him, in his beloved city, as a bad character in a very corrupt place, he uses that knowledge to the utmost of his canny Gallic ability, to show us poor unsuspecting tenderfeet a lot of naughty places and naughty things which he himself, generally speaking never bothers to visit or look.

And after all, when one considers that busses arrange to call at the hotels in the evening for the purpose of collecting a load of twenty-five ultra-respectable spinsters in order to show them the Night Life of Paris; drive them to a number of harmless cafes and have included in their fare, the price of the tea or coffee (or perhaps, if they are feeling particularly daring, a glass of port), which they may drink in the course of their various sojourns, the total of which fare amounts to about ten dollars; then finally brings them safely home to bed about 11.30, the night-life which we are told so much about does not seem such a fearfully dramatic or wicked thing.

On the other hand, there are a large number of establishments which operate under brilliant names and large electric signs, present a passable, but slightly vulgar, though not necessarily in any moral sense bad, cabaret and charge outrageous prices for everything available, including water. Against these interesting places the complaint is usually that they cost far too much money, that all they lack is a gun and a piece of lead-pipe in the hands of the head-waiter, and that in return for all their vast and begrudging expenditure, the tourists stay till morning, fearing to go home before getting their money's worth, and don't see anything better or worse (depending on the point of view), than they could see in any bum night-club at home.

In still another category come the establishments, few and far between, to which the average me that the University public opinion should force him, or her, to pass the money on to the "runner-up" in ability.

A case, remarked this past year, of a rather blatant misuse of scholarship money on the part of a McGill student, has drawn me to make this public comment. It is a pity that the inevitably uneven distribution of money should be allowed to thwart intellectual ambitions.—There are several students, no doubt, who could have made very creditable use of the money so thoughtlessly wasted this summer. Somehow, at a University, one expects to find a higher code of equity prevailing.

Thank you.

Beatrice C. Ferneyhough.

The Editor,
McGill Daily.

Dear Sir:

I learned from Wednesday morning's Daily that I had been created an associate editor of the "McGilliad." I am not an associate editor of the McGilliad nor had I signified any such intention either to the editor or managing board thereof. I have not, nor do I intend to have, any official connection with this publication.

Sincerely,

K. N. Cameron.

The Editor,
McGill Daily.

Dear Sir,

I noticed your short but desirable editorial in today's Daily. Your comments came very opportunely to us "semi-dazed newcomers." We wander around like the homeless wind, penetrating buildings here or there, not sure of our footing or shock from intellectual temerity in the presence of this august University—homesick—lonely—dejected—often reiterating Tenneyson's words on his own deep, sense of solitude "Oh that someone would rise in me that the man I am might cease to be."

Of course, we understand that perhaps it would be asking too much for the seniors to show us around or to answer our perhaps paltry but inquisitive questions. But the need of a few days chaperoning is undeniable.

A Freshette.

Lions Rampant In McGill

Round and round McGill you'll find
Lions sitting on their spines,
But freshmen need not fear a bit,
There're only there to sit and sit.

They hold a shield before their paws,
Just to hide their want of clothes
And teach the co-eds how to dress
On passing through this wilderness.

One meditates on mining art,
Mother elemental forms impart,
These rampant lions both agree
There's nothing true but you and me.

From sedimentary rock they came
To show you how to play the game;
Your noblest destiny to fulfil,
Then perch in stone on sweet McGill.

McGill Rugbyists Ready to Battle Great Blue Team

Team Will Leave For Toronto This Afternoon

TWENTY PLAYERS GO

Two New Men Join Squad. Confidence And Optimism Rampant

TWENTY redmen entrain this afternoon for Toronto, enthusiastic and confident that they will have a good blue and white scalp under their belts, when they return home again on Sunday. It means a great deal to McGill to win the opening game of the hunt for the intercollegiate football title and after a hard week's practice, optimism is the only note struck in the field house camp.

Line Up Announced

After yesterday's workout, coach Stuart Forbes announced lineup that will invade the Queen City Saturday. Doherty, Hammond, and Swabey will handle the ball in the backfield, with the latter doing the booting. Doherty will bark the signals, while Halpenny will snap the ball. He will be flanked by Wilson and McMoran, while McTeer and Church are expected to do heavy work at middle wing. Urquhart and Chard will handle the outside wing assignments and Granger will hold down flying wing. Several changes were made in the relief line up, two newcomers, Slater and Chapman making the grade at the last minute. Both are heavy hitting, clever blockers, and should be able to step in at any time, and handle any vacated post just as well as the regular men. Harvie is being taken as reserve snap, and Newton and Talpis, candidates for the quarter-back position, will also accompany the team, ready for action. Jyshe Russell and Hilliard complete what may prove to be one of the best squads that McGill has boasted for many months.

Varsity Look Good

Although the red team are journeying to Toronto with the intention of bringing home the bacon, they have not yet underestimated the strength of their old rivals, the blue and white, who recently took the much touted Argo Big Four squad into camp to the tune of 9-1. Reports from Varsity show that the blue are fielding one of the strongest teams in years, and one which Toronto students are backing to take down a Canadian championship.

In their exhibition game last Saturday the blue and white made the Argos look like a high school team, and they bumped, and tied up the great Frank Turville, till he finally left for the showers.

Quite the opposite pre-season results have been McGill's awards, but judging from this final week's practice, when the red team have tightened up, and brushed aside all Forbes' rearrangement has struck the right combination.

Fitzpatrick hurt

Injuries always play a great part in deciding a team's chances for victory in any season, and this year McGill has already been unlucky to lose Lovering, and Kritzwiser from the half-line. Both these shifty ball carriers are nursing bad knees that may keep them out of the game indefinitely. However, word came through from Toronto yesterday that John Fitzpatrick, who has been performing sensationally on the Varsity backfield, and who is also one of the fastest sprinters in the world, is now out for a week or more, having wrecked a knee in practice. The horde of McGill students who have announced their intention of accompanying the red team to Toronto are prepared to sit through a horrid 60 minute struggle. Should the good ship, McGill, be scuppered by the Varsity heavy guns, they will at least see a great team go down together, standing with captain Doherty on the bridge.

Soccer Gossip

By Hat Trick

From the number of Freshmen who have been turning out for soccer this fall, it is evident that the sport has gained a great deal of popularity at McGill, which certainly gladdens the hearts of lovers of the sport at the University and elsewhere. But—this is not intended to be a note of pessimism—let us hope that this hopeful turnout of new material does not turn out to be merely a pre-season affair. In the past, during the first week or so of training there have always been fairly large turnouts, but after a lapse of a week or ten days, many of the newcomers disappear, not to be seen again until the following season. With two representative, and the proposed "home and away" games in interfaculty football, everybody turning out should manage to get quite a few games, and a "good time will be had by all."

DOUBLEHEADER

Westmount Juniors Field Strong Team—Seconds Play First Match

The soccermen will face the crucial test tomorrow afternoon when they take on the Westmount Juniors, winners of the Montreal Junior League and the Junior Charity Cup, and now in the finals for the Sons of England Cup. This match will offer them an excellent opportunity of estimating their prospects for Saturday next when they travel to the Limestone city for their first intercollegiate tilt with the R.M.C. cadets. It has been rather difficult to make any sort of predictions concerning the chances of the Red team to bring back the Championship to Montreal this year, since, for various reasons, the regulars have been unable to turn out together for any single match, but, what with their fine showing against the West Pointers last Saturday and the fair exhibition against the boys from the Sun Life, soccer enthusiasts at McGill are quite hopeful of recovering the title which Toronto won last year for the first time in six years.

That the Westmount Eleven are formidable opponents is quite evident when we take into consideration the fact that six of the lads were picked to play on the Junior Association All-Star team against the Mid-Week league.

While the team at full strength is in some sort of an "all star" team itself it lacks the usual weakness of "all star" teams, that of the sacrifice of team play to excessive individuality due to individual conceit. However, since most of the boys have played together a great deal, it does not seem likely that this weakness will manifest itself to any great extent.

The Westmount match will probably see, for the first time, the Senior Redmen playing together for the first time this season, with the possible exception of Al Watt. The lean and lanky inside right stated that he might have difficulty in getting out for the match, and his place may be taken by Watson or Nolan, freshman aspirant to the Senior XI.

Of the Westmount lads, there is some doubt as to whether Gardner and Shorroch will be available, but in the event of their not turning up they will be ably substituted by Forsyth and H. Garner.

The teams will line up as follows:—

McGill	Goal	Westmount
Evelyn (Ross)	Smith
Reece	Right Back
Peters	Right Half
Owen	Centre Half
Crabtree (Watson)	Outside Right
Violette	Inside Right
Watt	Centre Forward
Williams	Outside Left
Reserves
.....	H. Garner
.....	Forrest
.....	Forsyth

Referee: H. Warren.
Kick-off, 3 o'clock sharp Upper Stadium.

The McGill Reserves will get into action for the first time this season, when they hook up against the Royal Victoria Hospital Eleven on the Upper Stadium at 1.30, just before the Senior match with the Westmount Juniors. This match is an annual fixture though a precedent has been established in that the Seconds hook up with the Hospital people instead of the Seniors doing so. There is some very good material on the seconds, some of whom have kicking these days. It is a pity that a suitable man cannot be found for the right half berth, for Vi would be a tower of strength at inside right; he is a very aggressive player and is particularly good at whizzing loose balls at unfortunate goalies.

Varsity Squad Is Strong For Game Tomorrow

Capacity Crowd Promised as McGill Senior Rugbyists Vissit Toronto

FITZPATRICK INJURED

TORONTO, October 9.—(Special to McGill Daily by T. A. Fleming, Sports Editor, The Varsity)—Under the expert eye of Coach Les Blackwell, Varsity's hopes in the senior intercollegiate race are getting ready to repel the invasion by Old McGill this Saturday. The Redmen are always great drawing cards in Toronto and a capacity crowd will be on hand for the opener.

Major Forbes' boys are in for a strenuous session from all indications as this year's Varsity team is picked to go a long way in the race for intercollegiate honors. With most of last year's men on hand and one or two notable additions, Les Blackwell has something to work on and has lost no time in whipping the squad into shape.

Among the familiar faces of yesterday can be seen "Long Jaw" Sinclair, punter extraordinary and all-round backfield star, who is going better than ever this year. Billie Bell will team up with Sinclair on the half line, will also call the signals. Johnny Keith is once more at snap and White, Ferguson, Jimmy Sinclair, Harrison, Dewar, and Scot are back along the line. Henderson, Bennett, McGuigg, McCulloch, and Richardson have graduated from the Orphans. The last named is a promising half-back who will be heard from before the season is over. Don Traynor is another potent addition to the squad.

Blues Took Two Exhibitions

The Blues have demonstrated their ability in two exhibition games this season. Balmby Beach were the first victims by a count of 5 to 1. Last Saturday Argonaut seniors, rated as a rugged team and Big Four contenders, took it on the chin 9 to 1. The showing made against the Oarsmen was particularly good for a pre-season exhibition.

Sinclair's kicking featured this contest and the results of Blackwell's work were seen in the smooth ball-handling along the line. This game however cost Toronto the services of Johnny Fitzpatrick, half line star and Olympic runner. Fitz had his knee wrenched in a tackle after a 40-yard run, and is definitely out of Saturday's game. Charlie Ruddell will probably fill in his place.

No line-up has been announced for Saturday as yet, but coach and playables are confident of the result. The winning the initial start has always proved a factor in the series, and the U. of T. squad intend to take no chances. They are taking their work-out seriously and have had several practice set-to's with the Orphans and Argonauts.

Fencers Meet Today

Call Sent Out For Old And New Men

This afternoon should see an active work-out of members both old and new of the McGill Fencing Club. The preliminary meeting last Wednesday evoked some interest in the ranks of the newcomers, but a larger number of recruits to the sport is to be anticipated when activities get under way. In the course of the afternoon novices will be initiated into the first principles of the art by the veterans on hand.

With the arrival of Coach Raimond on Monday, arrangements for the training of the beginners and the improvement of the old-timers will be complete. Lockers for the active members are expected in the immediate future. Meanwhile accommodation will be provided by the club trunk.

All interested are requested to turn out for this afternoon's meeting in the Boys' Gym of the Montreal High School at 5:15 p.m., when masks and jackets will be issued to those ready to try a few hits.

played together before upon the organization of a Reserve team at McGill last year.

Smart, Sparks, Janikun, Stoerli, Atiner, Minnion are amongst last year's Reserves. Murray, Nolan, Rand Smith, Swift are among the newcomers to the team. The R.V.H. line up is not known as yet. The Seconds will most likely line up as follows:—
Fitzgerald (Swift); Zimmerman, Stoerli (Classey); Sparks, Janikun, (Bugden), Smart (Red); Murray, Minnion, Altner, Nolan, Rand, Smith; Swarzbard.

ANNUAL TILT

Sophomores Greatly Out-numbered—All Freshman Entries in Mile Race

Outnumbered by nearly two to one, the Sophomore class will be hard put to it this afternoon on the Stadium to repel the challenges of the Freshmen in their annual track and field encounter. Bourdeau, running in the sprints for the new men, is an almost sure bet for ten points although he will be strongly opposed by six other likely runners whose abilities have yet to be tested.

The 440 will be an interesting race with Lake and Smart appearing to have a slight edge on the field. It is hoped that a new champion will arise from this event to bolster the first string relay squad. The 880 brings to the fore a new McGill runner who has already made his mark at R.M.C. Glib. Stewart won this event outright last in the Intermediate meet here in very fast time, if the wind, rain and mud are taken into consideration.

Freshman Milers

The mile has apparently been turned over entirely to the Freshmen, all five entries coming from the first class. Swartz has had a considerable amount of previous experience. He ran in the Ontario schoolboy championships at the end of August, finishing second in very fair time. The others are as yet unknowns. Jacob and Calhoun are looked to for a keen battle in the three miles. The Yale runner has improved greatly since last fall and the Intermediate champion will have a real battle if he is to bring home the bacon.

Field Men

Most of the competitors in the field events are old hands at the game and good marks are looked for in the throwing and jumping events.

Post entries will be taken at the Stadium and the entry lists should be swelled in this way before the first event is called. It is once more brought to the attention of all competitors that they must be physically examined before they compete and that serious trouble will follow if they disregard this rule. Competitors will be excused from lectures for the afternoon.

Entries

100-Yards dash—Bourdeau, Lilly, Tessier and Hunte, Freshmen; Smart and Tessier, Sophs.
220-Yards dash—Bourdeau, Lilly, Tessier and Hunte, Freshmen; Smart and Tessier, Sophs.
440-Yards dash—Murray, Lake and Smart, Sophs; Hunte, Freshmen.
880-Yards run—Stewart, Tait, Metrakos and Hunte, Freshmen; Lake and Nobbs, Sophomores.
1 Mile—Swartz, Whitcombe, Brown and Lochhead, all Freshmen.
Three Miles—Lake and Calhoun, Freshmen; Jacob, Sophomore.
Javelin throw—Ward, Mackenzie and McGibbin, Freshmen; Painter, Sophomores.
Shot put—Painter, Brenhouse.

Tennis Tourney Provided Thrills On Campus Court

Wilson, Crain, and McMartin Won in Yesterday's Play

EXCITEMENT TODAY

McGill racquetters in the hunt for the Dr. Martin trophy, emblematic of the singles tennis title of the university, took advantage of yesterday's fine weather to progress into the semi-final round of the tourney. While the much advertised match between Leslie and Mitchell failed to come off, when the freshman sensation failed to put in an appearance, three other good matches were played between the seeded performers.

Wilson Had Great Day.

Wilson pulled the biggest surprise of the day when he took Chipman into camp in straight sets without losing a game. Volleys, smashing, and driving in a manner that would do a Davis Cup star credit, the winner sustained a relentless attack that had his opponent running all over the court, until he weakened, and cracked altogether. The match was really closer than the score indicates, however, for both players again, and again, pulled off some marvelous shots.

Crain Won Round

Linton, who had been the dark horse of the tourney, fell before the steady game of Bud Crain, who took the match, 6-3, 6-2. Here again a great deal of clever court maneuvering, and generalship was much in evidence, and the game never lacked for its exciting moments.

The last match of the day's tournament play was the only one that went to three sets, when McMartin took the measure of the clever Bermuda star, Clarke, 6-1, 3-6, 6-3. This battle was an exciting one all the way, and forced the spectators, to applaud loud and often, as first one, and then the other player, would recover shots in a miraculous manner.

Leslie Plays Mitchell

Leslie and Mitchell are slated to go at noon today, in what should be a great battle full of the best that is in the game. The winner will meet Crain at 1.30 in a match that will decide who is to enter the final bracket with the winner of McMartin and Wilson's struggle, which will take place at 4.00.

Whether permitting the finals will be played on Saturday, probably in the morning. Meanwhile the tennis committee are arranging a series of elimination matches, from which the McGill intercollegiate team, who are at home this year to Varsity and Queens, will be decided.

Maughn, McMartin and Smart all sophomores.

Discuss throw—Painter, Sophomore.
Pole-vault—Weber, Fresh; Wallace and Moynan, Sophomores.
Broad-jump—Neeland and Kerlazes, Freshmen; Lake Smart and Tessier, Sophomores.
High Jump—Johnson, Freshman; Lake and MacRae, Sophomores.
Hurdles—Neeland, Kerlazes and Copper.

Wish to Advance Student Culture

Oriental Group Offers Intellectual Material

The program of the Oriental Club promises to be an interesting one this session. Important and versatile speakers feature on the syllabus offering a variety of subjects. Details of these will be published early next week.

Although perhaps of special importance to members of the Semitic Department and to Theological students, the club should also satisfy any student who is interested in the cultural side of education. Commercialization and the cramming necessary for lecture courses has almost obliterated culture in modern education. The general scheme of the club is to remedy this condition.

The club attempts to provide an outlet for individual thought and personal opinion. Members question and discuss the matter in hand, whether it be Philosophy or Religion, History or Archaeology and delve into the deeper meanings of these subjects. There is room for more interested people who love learning for its own sake.

later establishing his own concern in Montreal.

In 1925 Professor Stanley returned to University life as a member of the Staff of the Department of Classics of McGill University, a Department which has grown greatly in scope and importance since Dr. Woodhead took charge in 1924. For the past three years Professor Stanley has acted as Secretary of the Canadian Universities Conference. He also is the author of numerous articles in Canadian and foreign reviews upon classical subjects and Canadian affairs, and has been steadily associated with movements for raising the academic standards and increasing the dignity of the teaching profession.

Players' Club

The following and all those interested are requested to meet in the Players Club Room in the basement of the Union at four o'clock today: Celeste Belnap, Kathlyn Stanley, Henrietta Owen, Jane Taprell, Jean Taylor, Alma Johnson, Dorothy Dixon, Ethel Jean Winter, Thelma Mitchell, Marion Brisbane, Helen Hendry, Betty Henderson, Laura Stewart, Margaret Miller, Helen Howes, Adelaide Smith, Frances Montgomery, Reta MacDonald, Ghelle Goldwater, Jacqueline Sprinkle, Barbara Meagher, Betty Hurry, Sonny McBride, Frank Stuart, Hugh Trimmingham, Don Black, Sidney Bunting, Harold Johnson, C. K. Harrington, Jack Nixon, Watson Gilman, Wallace Gatehouse, Tom Morse, Henry Schaffhausen, H. Finkel, A. Marcus, George Dodd, James Clark, Bud Robertson.

It is important that all be present at this meeting as the advertisement soliciting teams will be organized and the program for each will be outlined.

UNCLE BEN'S CORNER

From Queens' Journal

Tag Days

Years ago, long before horseless carriages, people were content to call the days of the week by their Christian names. More recently, however, this plan has fallen into the discard and we hear them called Arbor Day, Mother's Day, Rally Day and so on ad nauseum. The limit was reached when somebody with a Machiavellian turn of mind invented Tag Days and gave them no specific dates, somewhat after the manner of day days.

A student will set out for class on a fine autumnal morning, whistling blithely as he thinks of the knowledge in store for him that am. All this is suddenly changed when he perceives a lady on a street corner with a box over her arm pouncing on innocent passers-by like a hawk on its prey. The student immediately loses all faith in his fellow man and his outlook on life is embittered. With a sigh of resignation he puts his hand in his pocket and meditatively fingers the few odd coins he has in his possession. No matter how many big nickels he has had in the past week it is certain that he now has nothing less than a quarter or a fifty-cent piece. It is almost uncanny.

Of course a quarter is out of the question and so the only thing left for him to do is to pass on quickly and ignore all pleas. If he is lucky he will get only a look of scorn that will haunt him for days, spoil his appetite and prevent him from sleeping, but it is a well-known fact that some taggers will not let their prey off quite so lightly, but will sneak up behind them and hit them over the head with a club. It is then an easy matter to "roll" the victim, and many and varied are the tales of horror told of these marauders. Everybody knows the story of the man who was rescued by the good Samaritan. Is it any wonder that strong men quail and heroes blanch at the thought of meeting a tagger without any money? Many a student has failed in his attendance because he has returned to his room countless times rather than undergo such an ordeal.

Some people when they have the required nickel feel so relieved that their tormenter. Some will even go farther as witness a news article in a prominent Kingston daily the other night wherein one, Clarence Johnson, bought a tag from a girl and asked her for a kiss at the same time. The young lady refused, whereupon Johnson procured a custard pie and wrapped her face in it. He was arrested and I would like to be able to say that the judge acquitted him, while at the same time giving him a few warm words of commendation. Alas it was not so, for the judge fined him. The only explanation that I can find for this is that the girl must have been the judge's daughter, but even that doesn't excuse him. I think the day will come when you will be able to shoot taggers on sight and no jury on earth will convict you because of the unwritten law.

Some day I think I will break into this tag racket myself for it has boot-legging beat forty different ways because you have no overhead and the stock is small. For taggers I would have the most beautiful chorus girls that I could lay my hands on and then I would sit at home and this Saturday afternoon. Come and join the hike across the new Harbour Bridge stop for refreshments at St. Lambert. Bring car fare. Please notice full particulars on R.V.C.A.A. bulletin board and sign if you intend to go.

M.S.P.E. CLASSES

R.V.C. students are reminded that all classes in physical education begin on Monday, Oct. 13. Students who have not registered or students who wish to change their classes are urged to do so before Monday, since attendance will be counted from that day.

LONG-DISTANCE RUNNERS

The Harrier Club will commence activities on Monday, October 13th at 5 p.m., when the first run of the season will take place, starting at the Stadium Field House and following the shorter course. All interested in distance running turn out.

SWIMMING HOURS

The schedule of swimming hours for the men of the student body at the Columbus Pool, 1191 Mountain St., below St. Catherine is as follows: Monday, Wednesday, Friday 5.30 to 6.45; Tuesday and Thursday 4.30 to 6.45.

A fifteen cent charge entitles men to the full privileges of the pool, including swimming suit, locker, soap and towel.

wait for the money to roll in. On second thoughts I don't think I could handle the situation very well as the whole thing savors too much of blood money.

I know of one young man who is going to outwit the taggers this year. He saved a poppy from last season and this coming Armistice day will see him wearing a broad smile—among other things.
